ROBINSON

17. Dark purple . strong ripe elderberry flavours. Very sweet ad cleverly worked. A great drink with some real energy behind it. Very hidden sandy tannins. Bravo!

PERSWIJN (Hollande), mei/juni 2005

(*) intens en krachtig, kersen en pruimen, goede lengte, fraai hout

WINE SPECTATOR 85-88

Blackberry, licorice and indian spices on the nose. Medium-bodied, with a solid core of silky tannins and a medium finish. On the higher end of this score range.

Parker (87-89)

A top-notch effort from Canon-Fronsac, the 2005 Barrabaque exhibits plenty of minerality, high tannin and equally high extract and density, and abundant amounts of sweet red and black fruits, body, and glycerin. Anticipated maturity: 2001-2020.
